OSHA to Begin Enforcing New Fall Protection Guidelines Sept. 16

The 90-day phase-in period giving residential construction companies additional time to come into compliance with OSHA's new “Compliance Guidance for Residential Construction” directive (STD 03-11-002) on fall protection ends on Sept. 15. Builders must take whatever steps are needed to be in compliance with OSHA's Subpart M-Fall Protection beginning on Sept. 16.

Employers are being required to provide conventional fall protection systems — guardrails, personal fall arrest systems or safety nets — when workers are exposed to falls six feet or more above a lower level. There is an exception if an employer determines that using conventional fall protection is either infeasible or creates a greater hazard. In that case, the employer can implement alternative fall protection practices and must provide a written fall protection plan. OSHA is presuming that conventional fall protection systems can be used for most tasks, putting the burden on the employer to demonstrate otherwise.

Many states operate their own state occupational safety and health plans and may have adopted fall protection standards that are different from OSHA's. Builders who work in states with an approved occupational safety and health plan should contact their local administrator or home builders association for further information on the standards that apply. Going forward, NAHB is continuing to work with OSHA to resolve compliance questions and the content of ongoing training efforts. For more information on fall protection requirements and the phase-in, visit www.nahb.org/fallprotection; see OSHA's residential fall protection compliance assistance website; or contact Rob Matuga at 800-368-5242, x8507.

September is Associate Member Appreciation Month

September has only thirty days. That's not nearly enough time to fully appreciate and appropriately recognize the numerous contributions Associate members make to our HBA. During Associate Member Appreciation Month, I want to make sure that we take time out of each one of its 30 days to not only think about what Associates do, but to actually do something to highlight their activity.

Listing everything Associates do should be easy enough because for every active Associate member there is a unique contribution being made. When Associates pay their membership dues, provide an HBA sponsorship or donate a raffle item, they literally put their money where their mouth is. But to the extent that financial support is given, somebody has to plan, coordinate and implement the various events and programs that make our HBA so successful. Again, Associate members rise to the occasion.

You may think that it would be enough to recognize Associates for what they do for our HBA, but doing so would neglect the equally generous spirit that shows itself when our Associates take part in numerous community activities. Again, they see their roles as encompassing a wider scope than just their business and we are all better for it.

As Associate Member Appreciation Month approaches, I ask that we reflect on how we can show appreciation for Associates and "Just do it." For example, the HBA can offer special incentives to show our appreciation for Associates but that will never be as good as true un-staged appreciative remarks coming from fellow members—coming from you. Think about all Associates do and offer them a few kind words to encourage them to do it even better.

I want to thank our Associate members for their contribution throughout the year. September is their month and I know that we'll do all we can to make it special, memorable and worthwhile for our active Associates.

Thank you for your support.

Do you need a Level 1B Certification?

If so, please contact JCBA by email jcbuilders@windstream.net or call us by phone 706-367-0611. We need to know if we have enough interest. There is a minimum number of students required to hold the class. Registration Fee will be comparable and as low as possible.

Jackson County Builders Association wants to host an education course that would provide this state-required certification. This is NOT for re-certification but for folks that do not yet have the certification. It is an 2 day course.

Advanced Fundamentals (Level IB)

The Level IB Advanced Fundamentals Seminar is a two day course designed to train regulatory enforcement inspectors and non-regulatory personnel inspectors contracted to do regulatory work to accurately inspect land disturbance areas for compliance with state erosion and sedimentation laws. The course will cover several topics such as the role of the inspector, ES&PC planning and review, and local program overview criteria.
